

LINDSEY CREWS

SENIOR MARKETING COORDINATOR

Jacksonville Office

I joined Suncoast Property Management in August 2023 which also happened to be my birthday, so I always joke that it was a pretty memorable way to start a new chapter. My role is focused on helping property owners make informed marketing decisions by analyzing market trends, pricing, competition, and demand to find the strategy that gives them the best chance of leasing quickly while still growing their investment. Every property is different, and I enjoy the challenge of finding out what will work.

Before joining Suncoast, I spent several years in sales and management, where I discovered that what motivates me most is working alongside people toward a common goal. I genuinely enjoy building relationships, collaborating with others, and finding creative solutions that make a real difference.

That mindset has carried over into my role here, allowing me to connect with owners on a personal level and treat their investment goals as if they were my own. There's nothing more rewarding for me than helping someone reach the outcome they've been working toward.

Outside of work, I'm a Jacksonville local through and through. Florida has completely spoiled me, and I honestly can't imagine living anywhere that isn't close to the beach. When I'm not working, you'll usually find me reading, thrifting, or planning my next trip.

Thank you for trusting me with your investment. I look forward to partnering with you, helping you reach your investment goals, and achieving great results together!
